

Poisoned Coffee Investigation

St Oakwood Primary, staff room incident

CASE REF: PC-2026-03
DOCUMENT: Suspect profiles (15)
DATE: Monday 17 March, morning of incident

CASE FILE OPENED

MONDAY 17 MARCH · ST OAKWOOD PRIMARY · PC-2026-03

Started like any other Monday. Year 6 in, Sports Day kit stacked in the hall, staff room kettle on since eight.

At 3:58pm Mr Thornton found Mr White slumped at his desk in the Year 6 corridor. Mr White had missed afternoon registration. Thornton rang 999. Doctors say someone poisoned him. He is in hospital and he is going to recover, but he was unconscious for hours.

Police think it was the coffee. Mr White filled his blue mug in the staff room at about 11:10, walked back to class, took two sips, and left the mug on the left corner of his desk. He never picked it up again.

Hot drinks get made in the staff room. Shared sugar bowl on the counter. Fridge, kettle, tray of mugs. Forensics photographed everything. Your class gets the paper files first; some photos arrive later in envelopes.

Reception logs who comes in. HR has heights from medicals, fingerprint types from safeguarding training, shoe sizes from the Sports Day order form. Fifteen names on the list. Everyone below gave a statement.

You work in pairs. Your teacher releases clues through the morning, in envelopes or on the board. Cross names off your own copy if you like. After each round the class board is the record that matters.

When a new clue lands, check it against height, fingerprint type, shoe size, and tread on each card. People sound sure of themselves and still get it wrong. Before lunch you will interview a few names and write down who you think did it.

Fifteen people on this list. One of them put something in that mug.

USING THIS PACK

Keep the pages together. Write on your copy, not the whiteboard. When you and your partner agree someone is out, tick Ruled out and scribble why.

Read all fifteen before the first clue drops. Note who might have been in the staff room.

New envelope or board clue? Stop. Run it against everyone you have left.

Talk in your pair, then with the class. Your teacher strikes names off the shared board.

Two suspects with the same shoe size? Keep both until something splits them.

You can only interview a few people later. Pick the ones you actually need.

Final accusation: one name, at least two reasons from the evidence. Not just a guess.

WHAT THE BOXES ON EACH CARD MEAN

Your teacher will hand out separate fingerprint and tread cards. Study each one, then circle the matching letter on this sheet.

HEIGHT

From the last school medical. CCTV is useless for faces here but the door frame has markers. If height comes up in a clue, compare the numbers.

FINGERPRINT

Circle one letter: A (arch — ridge goes up and over), L (loop — ridge curls round), or W (whorl — spiral). Your teacher has a separate card showing each person's print pattern.

SHOE SIZE

UK size from the Sports Day kit form. A wet footprint can show size even when you do not know who made it.

SOLE TREAD

Circle one letter: W (wave), C (circles), S (stripes), B (blocks), or D (dots). Your teacher has a separate card showing each person's sole pattern.

DOCUMENT: Written statement analysis

DATE: Monday 17 March, morning of incident

Detectives noticed errors in Mr Grant's written statement. Read all four paragraphs carefully. Count each category below — your four answers make the access code (one digit each, in order).

Read all four paragraphs of the suspect statement.

Work through each count in order. Write one digit per box.

Put the four digits together and enter the code on the class iPad.

Tell your teacher when access is granted — then open the next envelope.

WRITTEN STATEMENT (AS FILED)

i was in the sports hall all monday morning with year five. we set up hurdles and bright orange cones becuase sports day was soon.
at about eleven i nipped to the staff room for spare cones. The visit was a quick trip. chef dave saw me carring a stack from storage.
The statement to police: never touched Mr White's blue mug. The gym stayed full all morning.
Sports day organisation went to Mr White, not the PE department. Staff did not put somthing in the hot coffee.

DOCUMENT: Fingerprint tally worksheet

DATE: Monday 17 March, morning of incident

Each question is tagged with a shape sticker. The questions are in a mixed order — the code at the bottom uses a different shape order. Solve every equation, then match each digit to its shape to build the iPad access code.

Solve each equation. Show your working in the space provided.

Each answer is a single digit (0–9). Write it in that question's answer box.

The questions are mixed up — do not read your answers top to bottom. Find each shape's digit, then write them in the order shown at the bottom (circle → triangle → square → star).

Tell your teacher when access is granted — then open the next envelope.

Task 3 — Victim profile

CASE FILE · MR WHITE

CASE REF: PC-2026-03

DOCUMENT: Victim staff profile (extract)

DATE: Monday 17 March, morning of incident

Before the next evidence release, read the victim profile below. HR pulled this from staff records after Monday's incident. Look carefully — one detail unlocks the iPad code.

STAFF RECORD — VICTIM

NAME

Mr James White

ROLE

Year 6 class teacher

HEIGHT

BIRTHDAY

26 July

KNOWN FOR

Football club, strong coffee, blue desk mug

Colleagues say Mr White is hard to miss on a Monday morning — football boots in one hand, blue coffee mug in the other. He runs the Year 6 football club on Tuesdays and still plays five-a-side with other staff on Fridays. At five foot eleven he is tall enough to reach the top shelf in the staff room cupboard without standing on a chair.

He loves coffee. Proper coffee, strong — and he takes sugar every single time, no exceptions. He always has two sugars from the staff room sugar bowl. After school he relaxes on his Xbox with his nephew — usually a football game or something they can play together on the sofa.

Mr White has taught at St Oakwood since 2019. The school nurse's last medical report lists his height as five foot eleven, his birthday as 26 July, and his age as 34. Year 6 made him a card at the summer fair when he turned thirty-four.

On Monday 17 March he filled his mug in the staff room at about 11:10, walked back to the Year 6 corridor, and left the mug on the left corner of his desk. That was the last normal moment before he collapsed later that afternoon.

FIND THE CODE

The access code is the year Mr White was born. Find his age in the profile. The case file is dated 17 March 2026. His birthday is 26 July — think about whether he has already had his birthday this year.

Mr White's age:

Case file year: 2026

YOUR ACCESS CODE

Enter the four-digit year Mr White was born on the class iPad, then tell your teacher.
